ITEM FOR DCI MEETING WITH DIRECTOR, FBI ON 4 AUGUST 1981

CIA is assisting the FBI in a pilot project to exploit the foreign intelligence (FI) by-product of FBI counterintelligence (CI) operations. The assistance has consisted of assigning a senior NFAC analyst to the FBI for initial evaluation of product potential, assignment of an FBI supervisor for training, and extensive contacts by DDO production and dissemination experts and NFAC analysts with the Intelligence Division of the FBI. Parallel evaluation of the FI by-product derived during the past several months indicates that some scaling-down of expectations may be in order. From the outset, the FBI has emphasized that its primary mission is counterintelligence and that it could not permit any positive intelligence exploitation to dilute that mission.
